OUTSTANDING ALUMNI

Conquering the New York tech scene

Renee Robbie graduated from QUT Business School with a Bachelor of Business (Economics and Marketing) (Honours). In 2014, she co-founded LookBooker, an online booking aggregator for the hair and beauty industry.

Robbie had no tech background, but could foresee the potential when she and co-founder Giorgia Rossi came up with the LookBooker idea.

Users can book salon appointments any time online without having to make phone calls. Renee and Giorgia went door-to-door in Manhattan to sign up businesses and now have 150 salons on their books and 10 employees.

Where innovative ideas turn into a reality. That's the QUT difference.

From QUT to Google

QUT alumna, Carolyn Dawkins, is at the forefront of global digital strategies.

The Bachelor of Business (major in Marketing & Communications, minor in Media Analysis and IT) graduate is now head of Google's BrandLab in New York City.

Ms Dawkin's branch supports Google's Top 100 worldwide clients to grow their brand-building capabilities.

Ms Dawkins believes in bringing a brand's story to life online through the right digital platform. Real QUT experience creating real brand outcomes.

An IT guru from the start, Richard Eastes, was able to grow his skills through QUT's Bachelor of Information Technology.

After graduating, Richard was integral in growing car rental comparison site VroomVroomVroom taking it from a small start up to a multi-national company with an annual turnover of $60 million.

Richard was also named QUT Science and Engineering Faculty's Outstanding Alumni Award for 2016.

DA YEA KIM VICE-CHANCELLOR'S SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT

The process of applying for the QUT Vice-Chancellor's scholarship was so easy as it was awarded solely on OP score. I didn't need to put much thinking into it at all, I actually forgot that I applied for one by the time my OP results were released. However, I received the scholarship and I must say, that 5 minutes spent online was definitely worth it!
